

Plural Of Hoof

Plural Of Hoof - Definition of hoof. plural hooves play \?hüvz, ?hu?vz\ also hoofs. 1 : a curved covering of horn that protects the front of or encloses the ends of the digits of an ungulate mammal and that corresponds to a nail or claw. 2 : a hoofed foot especially of a horse. — on the hoof. of a meat animal. The plural of hoof is hoofs, which when pronounced, would have sounded like hooves. Hoofs is also a plural form of hoof, the horny part of an animal's foot. Hoofs is a much older rendering of the plural form of hoof. The plural form of hoof is hoofs or hooves . Find more words! Instead, he pulls ten men back and hoofs the ball long, to be chased or held up by a willing workhorse. He was a dark iron gray with a broad chest and fine quarters, clean limbed with perfect feet, and hoofs as black as jet. When to Use Hoofs. Hoofs are specific to mammals—all animals with hoofs are mammals, but not all mammals have hoofs. Other classes of animals, like fish or invertebrates, do not have hoofs. For a good 250 years, hoofs was the primary plural form of hoof —analogized with the word roof, which has roofs as a plural form.